Dark days

Walking outdoors can be dangerous at night during the winter, especially if the temperature dips below zero. Put Smart Bulbs in your outdoor lights and let them turn on automatically when your Smart Outdoor Camera detects motion to safely walk to your front door.

Private mode

When you are home you might want to turn your camera off, as you don't need to keep an eye on yourself. You can even automate this, to a certain time schedule, or even based on your current location.

Care for your outdoor animals

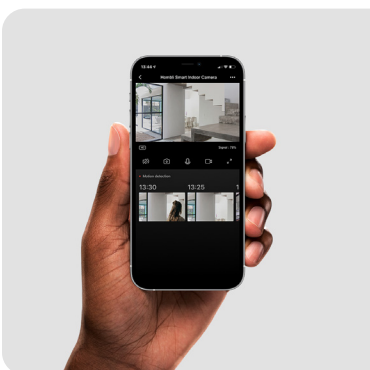

When you are not at home, you might want to keep an eye on your chicken coop, or maybe even cattle. Take a quick peek, or set it up to make sure you receive a notification from the camera when they move.
